

MEETING CLOSING

We carry forward the compassion, connection, and understanding shared here today.

Until we meet again, may we remember that grief softens in community, hope grows through honesty, and none of us walks this healing path alone.